

Full Steam Ahead! A Thomas & Friends™ Timeline

The inspiration for the creation of the beloved Thomas the Tank Engine™ and his “Really Useful Engine” friends was the Great Western Line that ran from London’s Paddington Station to Bristol.

- 1916 In the English countryside, a young boy listens to the puffing of nearby steam engines and as he imagines their conversations, he doesn’t doubt that these engines have their own unique personalities
- 1943 Now a father himself, the Storyteller is inspired to “engineer” tales about these steam engines to entertain his own young son when he was in bed with the measles
- 1945 The train leaves the station as the first of the classic Thomas & Friends™ stories is published, entitled ‘Edward’s Day Out’
- 1950 This Island of Sodor is “discovered” after Rev. W. Awdry visits the Isle of Man. Sodor lies between the Isle of Man and Barrow-in-Furness on the Mainland
- 1982 Decades later, while filming a documentary on a preserved railway, Britt Allcroft rediscovers the tales of Thomas & Friends and is inspired to bring the stories to television
- 1984 Thomas & Friends, a new animated production for preschoolers, makes its broadcast debut on ITV in the U.K.
- 1985 A very special passenger hops aboard as former Beatles member, Ringo Starr, joins the Thomas & Friends™ television series as storyteller – the first of several famous storytellers to come
- 1989 Next stop America! Thomas & Friends pulls in to the U.S. when it debuts on PBS
- 1991 Japan is the next international stop for Thomas & Friends™
- 1992 Thomas makes his debut into Consumer Products with the Thomas & Friends™ Wooden Railway Set
- 1996 Thomas the Tank™ Engine travels all the way to Wisconsin for the first U.S. Day Out With Thomas™ family event. Day Out With Thomas offers aspiring young engineers and their families the opportunity to take a ride with a 15-ton replica of their classic storybook friend, Thomas the Tank Engine, and enjoy a day of Thomas and train-themed activities and entertainment.

Thomas finds his way onto the Internet as www.thomasandfriends.com launches
- 1998 Thomas goes off the rails as a Thomas & Friends™ theme park opens in Japan
- 2000 Thomas and the Magic Railroad, the property’s first feature film release, rolls into movie theaters worldwide

- 2002 Another famous voice takes a ride with Thomas when actor Alec Baldwin narrates new Thomas episodes in the United States
- 2005 Thomas & Friends™ celebrates its 60th anniversary with a year of activities, including the national Day Out With Thomas 2005: The Celebration Tour, a feature-length home entertainment release, new television episodes on PBS KIDS®, and limited edition toys and books
- 2007 Thomas takes to the stage when Thomas & Friends™ Live! On Stage launches the first US live theatrical tour of Thomas & Friends™. Following its US run, the tour travels internationally to Asia, Australia, Europe and Canada

Thomas Town, the first US theme park attraction for the Thomas & Friends brand opens at Six Flags Discovery Kingdom in San Francisco and Six Flags New England

Pierce Brosnan announced as new special guest Narrator of Thomas & Friends™

- 2008 Thomas Land, a $10 million theme park featuring 12-themed rides, opens at Drayton Manor in the UK. This Thomas Land attraction, replicating the Island of Sodor, is the first in Europe and the second in the world

Thomas enters the Guinness Book of World Records! The World's Longest Toy Train Track record is set by TOMY and HIT Entertainment at Thomas Land at Drayton Manor in the UK. The track took 2 weeks to design, 2 days to build, and 2.5 hours for Thomas to steam around 1.8 kilometers of track!

- 2009 Hero of the Rails debuts as the first Thomas & Friends feature in CG animation.

Thomas the Tank Engine gives his first TV broadcast interview on Good Morning America

Thomas & Friends™ Live! On Stage: A Circus Comes To Town debuts in the US visiting more than 50 cities from January through August

- 2010 Thomas & Friends celebrates its 65th anniversary with new CG-animated television episodes on PBS KIDS, a new CG-animated website, celebrations at Minor League Baseball games across the US

New global master toy partner Fisher-Price and new master construction partner Mega roll out new lines of Thomas & Friends toys

Thomas & Friends™ launches its first mobile applications for iPhone® and iPod touch® and its first application dedicated to the iPad®. The apps chart in the top 10 paid apps for kids in their first weeks of launch

Random House releases e-book versions of favorite Thomas & Friends titles